3 embassies assaulted in West Beirut

BEIRUT, May 25 (A.P.) - The United States, Egyptian and Sudanese embassies were blasted by rifle- and rocket-fired grenades early today in what police called concerted attacks protesting Sudanese-Egyptian entente.

Police said one Lebanese guard at the U.S. embassy was slightly sinjured at 1 a.m. when unidentified marksmen blasted four rifle-fired grenades into the second, third and fourth floors of the huilding in West Beirut.

The blasts knocked out windows but caused only minor damage otherwise.

At the same time, the Egyptian and Sudanese embassies also were hit but by rocket-propelled grenades. Two grenades struck the sixtb floor of the Egyptian embassy in west Beirut.

Mr. Yousef Omar Al Hindi, a counselor at the embassy, was slightly injured by fragments from a grenade which hit the residential quarters. The other grenade struck the embassy offices.

The grenade intended for the Sudanese emhassy, on the seventh floor of a nine-storey West Beirut huilding, did little damage, striking a rooftop water reservoir. The attacks on the emhassies came while Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was in Khartoum where Sudanese President Jaafar

Sadat: No concessions on Camp David, even to regain Arab friends

KHARTOUM, May 25 (A.P.) — Egypt will not stray from its Camp David commitments even if such a move would help Cairo renew ties with the rest of the Arabs, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said

His remark came one day after Sudanese President Jaafar Numeiri announced Sudan is ready to convene an Arab summit conference--including Egypt--because the dispute between Cairo and her Arab hrethren is damaging Arab unity.

Mr. Sadat and Mr. Numeiri met with reporters here at the end of a two-day visit by the Egyptian leader. The trip was Mr. Sadat's first journey to an Arah state since March of 1979 when he signed his controversial separate peace with Israel.

Mr. Sadar was asked if he would make concessions to other Arah states, almost all of whom bitterly oppose the Egyptian-Israeli rapprochement, in order to facilitate their responding favourably to Mr. Numeiri's plea.

"As for Egypt, we have no complexes. If you mean concessions that touch on Camp David or the peace treaty, no. No concessions there at all."

Mr. Numeiri announced yesterday, "Egypt is Arab and can be nothing else." He said the Egyptians must be welcomed back into the Arab tent because Arab unity was impossible without her.

ART REVIEW Small experiment paves wa for a new photographic clu

By Meg Abu Hamdan Special to the Jordan Times

AMMAN, May 25 — A small experiment is going on at the French Cultural Centre over the next two weeks. It looks like an interesting but informal photographic exhibition of scenes and people in Jordan and France, but that is just a cover story. The real purpose of these prints is to encourage people to come forward to enquire about the art of photographic development.

The French Cultural Centre, always a great proponent of photography, has had hlack and white developing equipment and a dark room for the use of its members for a number of years. However, to encourage greater use of these facilities M. Corbel, one of the teachers at the centre, decided to form a photographic club and about two months ago he advertised to that effect in the French magazine "Echo" — and received no rep-lies. So he and five friends got together and produced this small display of colour and black and white prints -- the latter all being developed at the centre -- to see if the Jordanians could be encouraged by this more practical method. This way, he thought, they can actually see for themselves what can be achieved.

As a tribute to the quality of these prints, many Jordanians already have enquired about the art and in October, after both the summer break and the installation of new black and white and colour developing equipment in better and more spacious accommodation at the Centre, there will be a new photographic club in Jordan.

claimed -- the photographers remain anonyn The reason for this mystery is simply that M. bel and his friends wish only to encourage of to take up photography, rather than exhibit? work -- work which however is often very gc Particularly good are some of the Jorda

A happy day for disabled kids at the airport

AMMAN, (J.T.) — To mark the International Year of Disabled Persons, Alia, the Royal Jordanian Airline, recently played host to some 150 handicapped children and their teachers, from institutes in Amman, Zarqa and Irbid.

Four busloads of excited youngsters arrived at the airport on the occasion, all delightedly anticipating their visit to the Prince Hamza, the airline's newest Boeing 747 airliner. The smart-looking Alia crew members, decked out in full uniform specially for the occasion, greeted the visitors and helped them aboard the plane, carrying those who could not walk.

After being officially welcomed aboard and having thoroughly inspected the aircraft.

which all agreed was very beautiful, the children were served a snack of cakes, candies and soft drinks. And, amid a great deal of singing, applause and giggling, gifts of colouring books, crayons, stickers, inflatable toys and other playthings were distributed -to both the children and their teachers.

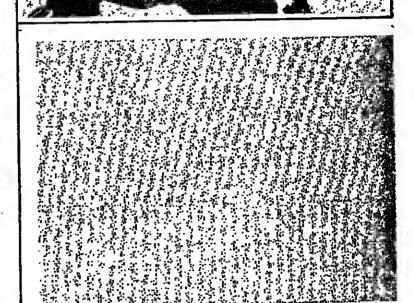

The smiling faces of hosts and guests alike showed that a good time was had by all. The children had had the "time of their lives," reported the institutions' directors, who thanked everyone involved for the "beautiful experience."

The crew members, all of whom had volunteered their time for the event, are already planning another such occasion in the very near future.

THE TACTICS of a cornered Zionist are so predictable that his worn-out old pleas to the world have started falling on deaf ears. The case of Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin today is a fine example of Zionism's ritual incantation of a catalogue of cliches that were once effective in the 50s and 60s, but that are now exposed as nothing more than the repetitive misinformation campaign of a master of deceit. Mr. Begin's latest accusation is that Soviet advisers are stationed alongside Syrian troops in the Bekaa Valley in Lebanon, a warning that is aimed at activating the anti-Soviet mania in the United States. Previously, Mr. Begin had tried saying that Israel was confronting Syria to help defend the Christians in Lebanon -- an argument that fell flat on its face and that we no longer hear very much. We have also heard that the Syrian presence in Lebanon is a threat to the "security" of Israel (despite the fact that in the past 100 years of political Zionism we have never heard a convincing account of precisely which Israel or Jewish home it is that is supposed to be secured). There are a few more standard Zionist lines still to come. We will probably be told that Syrian army officers had some links with Nazis in the 1930s, and then we will be told that Syria treats its' Jewish population badly. Perhaps Mr. Begin will resurrect some other arguments from the rich legacy of Zionist doubletalk. The important point is that his old words are no: longer effective. The world has heard all his stories before, and they remain unconvincing.

The celebrations which we are observing in this country are not merely a revival of a cherished historic occasion for every Jordanian and Arab, but in a deeper sense, they signify the determination to continue on the way to the goals for which independence was achieved and for which the army was established.

On such a day, Jordanians not only recall the acts of heroism and sacrifice inscribed by our valiant soldiers in Palestine, Jerusalem and the Golan Heights, but also make this memory an incentive for further heroic acts and sacrifices. They are on a path which they can never deviate from until we regain our rights and dignity.

On this day, Jordanians renew the pledge to support the leadership of King Hussein, the leader of the march and the maker of independence and the builder of the armed forces, affirming to His Majesty that a peo-

AL DUSTOUR: The Jordanian people have always been proud of their courageous leadership and its national achievements. They have, also, always been proud of their armed forces as the shield which protects the national dignity and achievements. The Jordanian people have always made the occasion of Independence and Army Day an important national occasion, celebrating it with pride and expressing their gratitude towards the courageous and wise leadership.

It is also a means by which Jordanians can demonstrate their determination to continue on the path charted by His Majesty King Hussein in placing the pan-Arab commitment in the highest scale of priorities and affirming Jordan's organic link with the interests of the Arab Nation. Also affirmed is its right to live secure within its borders and to be the master of its own destiny, capable of contributing to the national mission.

We are celebrating this occasion this year while the enemy is clamouring and threatening us with a new aggression. The anniversary comes while we pin our hope, as we have always done, on our armed forces and their courage and eagerness to protect the homeland and the dignity of the Arab Nation. We also pin hope on our leader every time we face obstacles in our path.

Since the very beginning, our armed forces have been raised to achieve Arab goals. Since then, the mission of the armed forces has been the great Arab revolt, and their goals have always been victory for the Arab cause and the Arab Nation.

In this anniversary, all the nation is rallying behind our armed forces which are taking up positions on the longest lines of confrontation with the enemy. Our nation is looking to our armed forces with the eyes of hope and confidence to shoulder the burden and to repulse the aggression.

Today, we feel proud of our armed forces and their pioneer leadership. We are proud of their high standard of ethics, courage, strength and readiness. They are our asset for regaining the usurped homeland and for repulsing the aggression against this nation by those who think that the Arab Nation is still living in the age of retreat and hope to achieve their mad expansionist ambitions.

At Al Najah University in Nablus, for instance, faculty work permits which were at best renewable annually bave gradually been reduced to periods of six months and in some cases even to one month or two-week durations. It is obviously extremely difficult for such institutions to recruit faculty when the latter can never be sure that their work permits will not be revoked without explanation in the middle of the academic semester. Thus, at Birzeit University, Jawad Barghouti, Professor of Cultural Studies, who left North Carolina State University at Raleigh to teach on the West Bank, found his work permit denied, effective immediately. after he had begun to teach.

The arbitrary denial of permits extends beyond the harassment of individuals, however, and is aimed specifically at preventing the organisation and creation of a whole range of associations and groups. It can be used to delay or. prohibit the a institution of new programmes: at AI Najah, the request for permission to open an agricultural school has been denied for several years without explanation (agriculture is of course a particularly sensitive field of study in the West Bank, where the Begin settlement policy is aimed at preempting or confiscating Palestinian farmland and water resources).

Meanwhile, the very operation and continued existence of the West Bank institutions of higher learning must be reapproved ann-" ually by the military government. The major targets of such refusal to license new organisations are bowever clearly student and professional associations (particularly insofar as these imply wider contact and communication between the various campuses) as well as labour unions. This is part of a systematic effort to hamper of Law, Ohio State Universit

The GAO found smaller cost overruns on other projects in Cairo and Alexandria, in Tunis, Manila and Bangkok.

In Bangkok, the U.S. mission reported 12 buildings being con-structed in October 1979. The GAO says the huildings were much older but had never been reported earlier.

It blames unnamed ambassadors for some delays on projects.

TEL AVIV, May 25 (R) - Pal-estinian leaders in the occupied West Bank town of Hebron today called for a one-hour general strike tomorrow to protest against plans to house Jews there.

Acting Hebron Mayor Mustafa Natshe told reporters the strike was levelled at the restoration of buildings in the town centre to allow Jewish families to move in. The houses are said to have belonged to Jews prior to clashes in 1929 which drove the Jewisb community out of Hebron.

Mr. Natshe also complained about the continued violation by Jewisb worshippers of regulations governing prayer services in the tomb of patriarchs, revered by both Muslims and Jews.

been banned by Israel from vis-. iting the West Bank as the invitations were sent by the Palestine Liberation Organisation (PLO), military sources claimed.

The sources said the mayors were due to arrive from Jordan this week but were informed they would not be allowed across the Jordan River.

The mayors were invited by the PLO to various towns in the West Bank and Israel proper to discuss "twin city" agreements, the sou-rces said, adding the authorities here were angered because the list of places they were due to visit did not distinguish between Arab towns on the two sides of the pre-

Libyans in Chad create aches in Khartoum, Cairo

SHARTOUM: Soviet backed Libyan troops in Chad have reinforced their positions in a town 130 kilometres off the Sudanese border and are amassing forces in another strategic central Chadian town, the Sudan News Agency has reported.

The report quoting eyewitnesses said "some 120 trucks carrying troops and tanks" arrived earlier this week in the town of Abeche near Sudan's western horders with Chad. The reinforcements came from Kufra a zone in southern Lihva.

The report quoting the same sources said the Libyans were also "reinforcing their positions" in another town, linking at the northern southern provinces of Cbad. It gave no details.

Western and Sudanese military sources bave up till now estimated there were 1,200 Libyan troops. supported by 60 armoured cars, artillery mortar and BM-16 missiles in Abeche. These sources have said the Libyans aided by Soviet and East German advisers bave set up a radar station and expanded the Todou airport runway to accommodate MiG-23 jets.

In Ati, the same sources estimated the Libyans' have goo men, 30 armoured cars and an unspecified amount of artillery and missiles.

The report of the reinforcements comes on the eve of a vish by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat to Sudan. The two countries have a joint defence pact, and the presence of Libyan troops close to the Sudanese horders is worrying both nations, officials have said.

The Sudan News Agency report said the Libyans bave evacuated villages around the border where some 70 Lihyans were recently reported killed in fighting between Libyan-supported factions and the troops of Chadian President Goukouni Oueddei.

The report gave no details of the evacuation. But Western sources in touch with developments on the borders have said refugees now trickle in at a rate of 20 to 40 a day compared to the average of 200 earlier this month.

Meanwhile, Egypt which has called for a withdrawal of Libyan troops from Chad condemned "as a dangerous precedent" at a impromtu summit meeting grouping the leaders of Nigeria. Sierra Leone, Libya and Chad who met to discuss means of settling the situation in Chad.

A communique issued by the Egyptian foreign ministry said the meeting was in effect "an endorsement of the Libyan occupation" of Chad, and thus in opposition to demands by 12 African countries earlier this year that the Libyans pull out of Chad.

Moreover, the communique questioned the right of "a small group of nations to determine the fate of a country and force a fait accompli on the Organisation of African Unity."

The President of Sierra Leone Siaka Stevens is current chairman of the OAU and Libyan Col. Muammar Qadhafi in an interview with the French news agency alleged the organisation wants Libya to maintain its troops in Chail until a neutral African peacekeeping force can be organised to takeover.

Mr. Stevens told reporters in the Chadian capital N'Djamena, that he is convinced Libya planned to withdraw its troops from Chad gradually, but refused to link the pullback to the arrival of the proposed African force.

Polisario to free captives as gesture to Morocco

ALGIERS: The Polisario front, a guerrilla organisation fighting for the independence of the former Spanisb Sahara, announced Monday it planned to release prisoners taken in its five years of warfare against Morocco. Mr. Mohammad Abdul Aziz, secretary general of the Algiers-hased Polisario front, said the release would come soon "as a sign of solidarity and goodwill toward the Moroccan people."

Mr. Abdul Aziz, in a speech making the eighth anniversary of the beginning of the struggle against Spain in the desert region, did not specify how many prisoners would be freed. Since the beginning

Afghanistan Mass exodus пош in the Jihad because we were vul-"People from other tribes have ASGHORO REFUGEE CAMP, Pakistan: Led by a crippled chieftain, 25,000 members of Afghanistan's Sahari tribe have crossed into Pakistan in a mass migsaid ration they say was essential to their survival.

Travelling on camels, donkeys, lorries and on foot, the Sabaris were making the first mass tribal exodus from Afghanistan since the Soviet military intervention there.

The tribe decided to leave after a four-day hattle with Afghan troops sent to their homes to disarm them.

An assembly of 300 tribal elders agreed on the last day of the battle that a mass exodus was the only way to survive and escape retaliation hy the Soviet-supplied Afghan army.

Headed by Mr. Mahmoud Ali Jan, their aged chieftain on crutches, the Sabaris fied to Pakistan 'late last month from their village homes in the fertile lowlands around Khost city in Afghanistan's eastern Paktia province, hringing with them all their moveable belongings and thousands of bead of livestock.

"We were compelled to leave. our villages. We had to leave. We live on the plains and had no way to protect ourselves," Mr. Ali Jan said through an interpreter.

After the three-hour-long session, messages were sent to all Sahari villages to begin the exodus to Pakistan over 160 kilometres

Mr. Ali Jan said: "We started moving at night. I arrived in Pakistan after two days in a trailer behind a tractor. We brought thousands of head of livestock. Lots died on the way because there was no fodder or water. Some people sold their stock cheaply because they had no money and we had to purchase tents when we crossed

By Afghan standards the Sabaris are a wealthy tribe of farmers and merchants coming from a fertile region. Afgban refugees from other tribes in Paktia said the Sabaris were the only tribe which had not actively joined in the Jihad (boly war) against the Soviet army and the Kahul government in the province. They had tried to protect their prosperity during the nearly three-year-long insurgency by maintaining an uneasy neutrality. In recent months several Sab-aris were killed by stray artillery shells and gunship attacks and the demands of the Afghan authorities on the tribe were becoming more aggressive, Mr. Ali Jan said. Mr. Ali Jan went on: "We were

"We came here because we bad nowhere else to go. We will establish our families in Pakistan and go back to fight for our freedom. To liberate Afghanistan from the Russians."

The United Nations official said the Sabaris arrived with between 40 and 50 vehicles, including fourlight buses and lorries.

The Sabris fled to Pakistan from their village homes bringing with them all their moveable belongings and thousands of head of livestock.

Some decided to risk staying to harvest the abandoned winter crops before leaving later for Pakistan.

Yamani 'not very hopeful'

on OPEC price agreement

GENEVA, May 25 (R) — Saudi Arabia, under fierce anack from other oil producers for causing a glut on the market, showed little sign at the start of an OPEC meeting today of being ready to raise prices or cut production, as its critics demand

Saudi Oil Minister Ahmad Zaki Yamani told reporters as he entered the meeting he was "not very hopeful" the 13 nations would secceed in closing the gap between the present Saudi $32 rate and the $36 base preferred by other producers.

Sheikh Yamani said his country might be prepared to raise its price if other producers cut theirs. But he said he was not ready to discuss production here. The oil ministers of Lihya, which charges $41 for its top quality oil, and Iraq said there was "no chance" they would agree to lower their prices. Venezuela's Humberto Calderon Berti said: "We are going to remain at $36. If our customers don't want to huy our crude at this level they can go elsewhere.

Delegates spoke briefly to reporters in the lobbies of the Intercontinental hotel, where the meeting is taking place amid tight security.

Opening the conference, Indonesia's Dr. Subroto, who was resing the present glut in order to halt OPEC's headlong run to higelected president, said this was a difficult time in the market and all her oil prices and Sheikh Yamani says he would like to see an 18members should show wisdom and not pursue purely national month price freeze. interests in trying to find "a new Analysts say the conference is equilibrium."

USSR helps Iran expand shipping fleet

TEHRAN, May 25 (R) - The Soviet Union has agreed to help Iran expand its shipping fleet in the Caspian Sea to boost communication between the two countries, state radio reported vesterday

The radio that under an agreement recently signed in Tehran the state-owned Iranian Shipping Company would deal directly with Sudoimport, the Soviet foreign trade organisation, for the purchase of ships. But it did not say what type of vessels were involved.

Iranian and Soviet officials also agreed to increase freight traffic between the two countries to seven million tonnes in the current Iranian year, which began on March 21, the radio said.

Many of Iran's imports from Europe come by rail through the Soviet Union and thence by ship across the Caspian Sea. The route has taken on added importance because Iran's Gulf ports are congested and vulnerable as a result of the war with Iraq.

Private sector grows in China

PEKING, May 25 (R) - A total of 810.000 Chinese started their own businesses last year, a Chinese magazine reported today, giving a sign of how far China has shifted towards a mixed publicprivate economy.

Small scale private enterprise is now not only tolerated but encouraged in China, partly to relieve unemployment which some foreign estimates have put at 20 million in urban areas.

The foreign-language weekly Beijing (Peking) review said the number of people involved in private businesses is small. "What is significant is that more job opportunities are thus created and what these people do is a supplement to the socialist economy," it said.

The magazine also denied that the current economic austerity programme would lead to more unemployment, It said workers whose enterprises were closed down would stay on the payroll while they were retrained.

Japan asks Nigeria to cut oil price

TOKYO. May 25 (R) - Japanese oil refiners and traders are negotiating with Nigeria for a cut in oil prices in view of the world-wide oil glut, industry sources said today.

Japan imports about 60,000 barrels a day of crude oil from Nigeria. Under the Japanese importers' present contracts prices are reviewed every three months.

The sources said the Japanese were asked to make bids on Nigerian oil imports prior to an OPEC (Organisation of Petroleum Exporting Countries) meeting opening in Geneva today,

They did not detail the Japanese demands, but they are expected to involve a cut in Nigeria's selling prices, now about $40 a barrel, as well as an end to premiums.

Gulf Oil Corporation of the United States, the biggest buyer of Nigerian oil. has demanded that the Nigerian official price be lowered to $37 a barrel, the sources said

The sources said Japan now pays premiums of between one and two dollars a barrel.

Where are Peace People and peace in N. Ireland?

By Hugh Carnegy

BELFAST - As violence again sweeps British-ruled Northern Ireland, following the death of four Republican hunger-strikers, some people are asking "Where are the peace people now?"

Corrigan and Mrs. Betty Williams, started the movement of the peace people, leading thousands of marches with impassioned pleas for an end to violence in the province.

In 1977, Mrs. Corrigan and Mrs. Williams received the Nobel Peace Prize for their work, which was inspired by a tragedy typifying violence in Northern Ireland and, for a while at least, gave hope of an end to the troubles here. But before long the hlaze of publicity that attended the early days of the peace people faded, it slipped from the public eye and last year Mrs. Betty Williams left the movement to work on other projects.

Yet the peace people are still struggling to huild bridges between the warring, Catholic minority, many of whom seek unity with the Irish Republic, and the majority Protestants, most of whom support British rule.

Hostages overpower one hijacker: police take care of other three VIENNA, May 25 (Agencies) — The hijacking of a Turkish airliner by left-wing extremists ended today at a Bulgarian airport when police tricked two of the four gunmen into leaving the aircraft and the passengers attacked their two comrades.

DC9 of Turkish Airlines opened fire, wounding several passengers, before he was overpowered, the Bulgarian news agency BTA reported from the Black Sea port nf Burgas.

The second hijacker jumped out of the plane and was seized by police on the tarmac where the other two gunmen had gone in the belief that they would be able to make a statement to journalists. One of the hijackers was woubeid at gunpoint by the bijackers were five staff of Citibank, the second biggest commercial bank in the United States, whom the gunmen had threatened to kill if their demands were not met.

The hijack ended at 1150 GMT. three hours before the deadline by which the gunmen had threatened to blow up the aircraft if the Turkish government did not bow to their demands that it free 47 prisoners and pay a $500,000 ransom.

N. Ireland conflict claims 2 more lives

BELFAST, May 25 (Agencies) - A man was killed in rioting in Belfast during the night, and a soldier was shot dead today, the 29th and 30th victims of violence in Northern Ireland since the Irish Republican hunger-strikes began on March 1.

Police said the civilian was struck by an armoured police Landrover moving to avoid stones and petrol bombs in the Catholic Old Park district.

The soldier was a part-time member of the Ulster Defence Regiment. Three of his colleagues were injured in a carefully planned attack a few kilometres from the home of Francis Hughes, the second of four hunger-strikers to die.

The deaths brought the number of fatalities in the Northern Ireland conflict since 1969 to 2,112, including 603 police and British soldiers.

Of the 30 people killed since March 1, four including a 12-year-old girl died after being hit by British army plastic anti-riot bullets.

Five of the dead were Britisb soldiers -- all killed when Irisb Republican Army (IRA) guerrillas blew up their troop carrier last Tuesday with a 450-kilo landmine.

Rioting erupted after dark in Belfast last night, as it has every night since IRA hunger-striker Bobby Sands died on May 5, and continued sporadically until dawn.

Meanwhile, supporters of the hunger-strikers in Northern Ireland invaded the plush Irisb Club in London's smart Eaton Square. Belgravia, last night and said they will occupy it for 24 hours. They will eat nothing in that time, they told the staff.

The group pushed past attendants and took over a room on the first floor, hanging out from a balcony banners demanding closure of the H-sbaped cellblocks bousing the bunger-strikers at Maze prison.

The club is used by professional and businessmen from the Irish-Republic. Club manager Thomas Smith said he will not remove the protestors unless they cause trouble.

"They are peaceful at the moment, but I don't suppose my members will be very pleased," Mr. Smith told a reporter.

Can Liverpool regain European Cup?

PARIS, May 25 (R) — Although seccer romantics may cherish the notion that Real Madrid of Spain can win the European Cup $\frac{1}{1}$, $\frac{\sqrt{2}}{2}$ for the seventh time on Wednesday, realists will be inclined to put their cash firmly behind England's Liverpool. Most neutrals are a lutit likely to root for the Spaniards. Liverpool's methodical play inspires admiration but Real cast a magic spell over the foothall world in the late 1950's, winning the first five European Cup Att Finals, and the enchantment lives on. It should be an intriguing clasb in the Paris's Parc des Princes Stadium, pitting Liverpool's endeavour and organisation against Real's flamboyant skills and inventiveness. But the present Madrid side does not compare with those of the days of di Stefano, Puskas, del Sol, Rial and Gento, and the odds must favour Liverpool extending England's lease on the magnificent trophy to five years. Having triumphed in 1977 and 1978, Liverpool were succeeded by compatriots Nottingham Forest, surely the least entertaining of victors, in 1979 and 1980. Equally worrying for Real, is Liverpool's miserly attitude to conceding goals. Although defenders Hansen, Phil Thompson and Alan Kennedy have all missed vital games, England international Goalkeeper Ray Clemence has been beaten just four times in eight European outings. Real have scored only 14 goals in their journey to Paris via Limerick of Ireland, Hungary's Honved, Moscow Spartak of the Soviet Union and Italy's Internazionale. It is 15 years since Real last lifted the European Cup, and, although their current team is packed with talented individuals, they face an uphill task if they are to enhance the Madrid legend.

Soviets look set to retain title

PRAGUE, May 25 (R) - The Soviet Union and Yugoslavia are favourites to win the European Men's Basketball Championships beginning in Czechoslovakia tomorrow. Defending champions the Soviet Union are in the same group as Yugoslavia, playing in Havirov, North Moravia, and it is completed by Poland. Turkey, West Germany and Italy. The other group, playing in Bratislava, the capital of Slovakia, comprises England, France, Czechoslovakia, Greece, Israel and Spain. Soviet captain Stanislav Yeremin said his team were determined to avenge defeats by Yugoslavia and Italy at the Moscow Olympic Games. Yugoslavia would be a hard team to beat, while Czechoslovakia at bome also posed a threat, he added. Czechoslovak captain Stanislav Kropilek said: "Hot favourites are the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia." He declined to speculate on his own team's chances. The prospects of the French team, which looked strong early in the qualifying rounds, plunged with their crushing defeat by Spain later in the stage. West Germany is rated the dark horse of the tournament, in which the finals will be played in Prague starting on June 1.

Israel not invited to Asian Games

TOKYO, May 25 (R) - Israel will not be invited to take part in the fourth Asian track and field championships in Tokyo next month for "security reasons," the Japanese Amateur Athletic Federation said today. The championships from June 5 contested by over 350 athletes from 25 countries and will include a contingent from Gaza. Israel, a member of the 34-nation Asian Amateur Athletic Association (AAAA), competed in the inaugural championships in Manila in 1973 and in the second meeting in Seoul in 1975. The AAAA declined to invite Israel to the third championships in Tokyo two years ago, also on "security grounds". Under the rules of the world governing body, the International Amateur Athletic Federation (IAAF), The A-AAA's refusal to invite a member country to compete meant the 1979 meeting lost its championship status. There was no immediate indication from the London-hased IAAF whether the decision not to invite Israel to next month's meeting would again mean a loss of championship status. Athletes competing here will be eligible to represent Asia at the World Cup in Rome in September.

New Delhi searches for peace in Assam

NEW DELHI, May 25 (R) - The Indian government has offered to transfer illegal immigrants in Assam to other parts of the country in a bid to end the crisis in the oil producing northeastern state, the Press Trust of India (PTI) reported. The news agency quoted informed sources as saying the proposal was made by government negotiators to Assamese agitation leaders discussing since last week the movement in the state in which more than 290 people have died. The government offered to resettle all illegal immigrants, mostly Bangladeshis, who entered Assam between 1961 and 1971, but said the state would have to accept what it called authorised refugees, PTI reported. Previous attempts to resolve the crisis failed after the government said resetting the immigrants would create a serious buman problem. Last week the agitators said they would accept the dispersal of the post-1961 immigrants if the government agreed to deport those who entered the state after 1971. The agitation in Assam has virtually ruined the state's economy and cost the country at least $1.25 billion in lost oil production.

All in the name of Red Brigades .

ROME, May 25 (A.P.) - Shouting "We are of the Red Brigades," four armed and unmasked bandits, including a woman, today held up a van of a wholesale supermarket on the outskirts south of Rome and made off with 300 million lire ($300,000), police reported. Police accounts said the four bandits, dressed with the same uniforms of personnel of the Metro Wholesale Supermarket, stopped the van and at pistol point overpowered the two armed guards of the van and escaped with the money in a small Fiat car. Police said the bandits took with them the pistols of the two guards. Police said they found the car used by bandits in a deserted street nor far from where the holdup took place.

Son of Italy's biggest taxpayer abducted

MODENA, Italy, May 25 (A.P.) - Police using helicopters were combing a vast area around this Italian town today for traces of the son nf Italy's biggest taxpayer, timber industrialist Valerio Alpi, kidnapped by armed bandits yesterday. Mr. Alpi's son, Vittorim, 25, was snatched by the masked bandits when he was driving with his sister, Cristina, on a provincial road. Miss Cristina told police a car bearing the kidnappers overtook their BMW and forced it to a stop. "Everything was very fast," Miss Cristina told police. The masked bandits broke the glass of one of our car's windows and at pistol point they forced my brother out and then fled with him in their car." Mr. Valerio Alpi recently made headlines in the Italian press when he topped a list of Italy's major taxpayers with a declared annual income of 863 million lire ($ 863,000). A total of 18 persons have been kidnapped in Italy so far this year.

S.African black nationalists attack police station, sabotage rail track

JOHANNESBURG, May 25 (Agencies) - Black nationalist guerrillas attacked a police station and blew up a railway line in separate incidents near big South African cities today, police said.

No-one was hurt in the attacks apparently timed to coincide with Republic Day anniversary celebrations this week.

Police said the police station, about 10 kilometres from the Indian Ocean port of East London, was attacked with a band-grenade and rifle fire. The grenade was thrown through a window of the charge room which was empty at the time. Police in Durban later reported an explosion on a railway line outside the city which ripped up a section of track and disrupted traffic.

" In that one, saboteurs blew up about a metre of railway track at about 2:30 a.m. (0030 GMT), according to railway police, and cut commuter rail service between Johannesburg and the satellite black township of Soweto.

The attack on the Fort Jackson police station lasted several seconds and was aimed at the charge office, which was unoccupied at the time, the South African Press Association (SAPA) reported from East London.

The agency said a hand-grenade thrown through

Back to Earth after 76 days

MOSCOW, May 25 (A.P.) — Cosmonauts Vladimir Kov-. alyonok and Viktor Savinykh will return to Earth on Tuesday after 76 days aboard the Salyut 6 space station, the Soviet news agency TASS has reported.

"They have fully carried out their programme for research and experiments aboard the scientific station Salyut 6 and will return to Earth tomorrow," TASS said.

Kovalyonok and Savynykb were launched March 12 in a Soyus T-4 space capsule, and have hosted two visiting crews aboard the space laboratory.

The latest visitors, Romanian cosmonaut Dumitru Prunariu and his Soviet mission commander Leonid Popov, returned to Earth last Friday after a week-long mission to the 31/2 year old station.

TASS said that Kovalyonnk and Savinykh were checking their capsule's life support and flight control systems and testing the switch of its propulsion unit in preparation for return to Earth,

"The cosmonauts are also carrying out operations to mothball the station and practice wearing 'vacuum suits," the news agency said.

the window of the ottice exploded inside, pitting the walls with shrappel marks. Dozens of spent AK-47 rounds were later found on the station grounds, SAPA said.

Police did not identify the type of explosive or its origin involved in the rail track blast.

Most recent sabotage incidents have been the work of the banned African National Congress, a black nationalist group that seeks the overthrow of white-minority rule here.

In a shooting incident possibly related to the attack on the police station, a policeman was wounded in the black township of Mdantsane.

Throughout the country police bad been put on alert in anticipation of trouble after calls by the ANC and other black organisations for a boycott of Republic Day celebrations.

A wide spectrum of black opinion, ranging from the ANC, which is pledged to the overthrow of the white minority government, to moderate Zulu leader Gatsha Buthelezi, bas campaigned against the celebrations.

The festival to celebrate the 20th anniversary of South Africa hecoming a republic has been building up for weeks with pageants, sports events and other activities. It reaches a climax on Sunday.

Ecuadorean President Roldos. Defence Minister Subia die in tragic airplane crash near Peru

QUITO, May 25 (R) - Ecuador's President Jaime Roldos was killed in a plane crash near the Peruvian border yesterday, the government has announced.

His plane crashed and burst into flames near the southern town of Guachanama, authorities bere said. Also on board were his wife. Defence Minister Marco Subia and his wife, two military aides and three crew.

Mr. Jaime Roldos took over as president of Ecuador in August 1979, ending nine years of military rule in the South American republic.

The president, a left-winger, was elected for a five-year term at the age of 39, making him Latin America's youngest ever elected president.

Meanwhile, in Bogota, Colombia, anonymous telephone callers claimed that Colombia's principal leftist guerrilla organisation caused the plane crash, the Bogota daily El Tiempo reported today. El Tiempo said it received two telephone calls from someone claiming that the April 19 Movement, which has been operating across the border in Ecuador, had been responsible for the plane crash. "The attempt (on Roldos' life) was carried out by a two-man suicide squad, and both have managed to escape after the operation," El Tiempo reportedly was told in a second telephone call.

The second caller said the April 19 Movement's leader, Jaime Bateman, would soon issue a communique on the alleged inv-olvement of the guerrilla organisation in Mr. Roldo's death.

And in Quitor, as bundreds gathered in the rain outside the National Palace, Vice-President Oswaldo Hurtado called the cabmet into session inside and assumed presidency. The president of the House of Representatives, Raul Baca Carbo, became vicepresident.

Official result places Unser 2nd at Indy

INDIANAPOLIS, May 25 (R) — Mario Andietti was today named the winner of yesterday's Indianapolis 500 Motor Race after judges ruled that fellow American Bobby Unser had to forfeit a lap for infringing the rules. After studying film of the race, the stewards decided that Unser, the first man across the finisbing line, bad passed at least seven cars while a yellow caution flag was being displayed, meaning that overtaking is banned. The decision gave Andretti, former world Formula One Champion, his second Indianapolis 500 victory and prize money of more than $300,000. He won the race in 1969. Unser, a two-time winner who finished 5.3 seconds ahead of Andretti, is believed to be the first driver to be stripped of victory.

New Zealand could face isolation

SYDNEY, May 25 (A.P.) — A prominent Australian sports official said today New Zealand could face a decade of isolation in international sports because of the forthcoming South African rugby union tour. Australian Commonwealth Games Association President, Leslie Martyn, said the tour was likely to lead to New Zealand being unwelcome participants at the 1982 Commonwealth Games in Brisbane. He said the invitation hy the New Zealand Rugby Union to the Springboks was clearly a challenge to the Games Federation's policy against sporting associations with South Africa. "Black nations comprise the overwhelming majority of the Federation's members and they're likely to pass a resolution that New Zealand should not be welcomed to the Games," Martyn said. Martyn said the most likely outcome was that New Zealand would still attend the Games, and that black nations would refuse to compete in events with New Zealand. The black nations could also protest at the tour by trying to isolate New Zealand in international sport outside of the Commonwealth Games. Martyn said the International Olympic Committee and Soviet Nations had been sympathetic in the past to similar protests. He said it was unlikely that the black nations would boycott the Games on a "Blanket" scale. Martyn said be believed most New Zealanders were against the tour, and added that New Zealand's special relationship with Australia may help the couintry's participation in the 1982 Games. "But the timing of the Springboks tour in July and August is sure going to create a controversy," he said.

Athletes praised by British minister

ANTRIM, Northern Ireland, May 25 (A.P.) - Britain's Minister of Sport, Hector Munro, has congratulated British athletes for agreeing to compete in Northern Ireland, contrasting them with the English and Welch soccer teams who refused to play in the province because of political troubles."I was very sad over the last 10 days when Wales and England pulled out of their football fixtures," Mr. Munro told spectators at the United Kingdom Athletics Championships which opened in Antrim.
